

Dear Alumnae/Alumni,

Please allow me to offer you a very warm welcome to the Cheverus Catholic website! You are a part of a long and proud tradition that began with the establishment of Cheverus Centennial School of Sacred Hearts Parish in 1908. As Principal, I feel both honored and privileged to have become a part of the Cheverus Family.

Over the decades, Cheverus has nurtured the spiritual, academic, physical, and social development of thousands of young people who have gone on to make incredible contributions to the larger community. Guided by the charism of the Sisters of Providence to carry out “works of love, mercy and justice,” and directed by the motto of our namesake, “Diligamos Nos Invicem,” let us love one another, graduates of Cheverus Catholic School have made our world a better place.

Our mission, despite the passage of time and the changing population, is to continue to provide young people with those same values and skills that you learned while here. We are blessed with wonderfully diverse community of families that understand and support our “raison d’être.”

The Sisters of Providence no longer physically grace the halls of Cheverus, but their presence is still felt in the legacy that they have left. Thanks to their efforts over their many years, they have imprinted an unmistakable identity of Catholicity that we strive to perpetuate daily. Through the dedicated work of a highly qualified faculty of laywomen and men, the children entrusted to our care are trained in our faith. They do this in addition to delivering on a quality academic education.

I invite you to explore our website which continues to be a work in progress to learn more about what’s happening at Cheverus. I ask that you take the time to help us to improve our communication with you by taking the time to fill out a very brief form. Once again, welcome!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Thomas P. Arria, Jr." in a cursive script.

Thomas P. Arria, Jr.
Principal